

Satan Wants to Be Worshiped

Turn to Matthew 16, and put a marker in Ezekiel 28 and Isaiah 14. We will see how far we get this time.

Where we left off about a month ago is Matthew 16. Verse 20 reads this way:

Then charged he his disciples that they should tell no man that he was Jesus the Christ.

From that time forth began Jesus to show unto his disciples how that he must go unto Jerusalem, and suffer many things of the elders and chief priests and scribes, and be killed, and be raised again the third day.

Then Peter took him, and began to rebuke him, saying, Be it far from thee, Lord: this shall not be unto thee.

But he turned, and said unto Peter, Get thee behind me, Satan: thou art an offense unto me: for thou savorest not the things that be of God, but those that be of men.

That is an interesting statement in itself. What amazed me here was that Jesus totally bypassed the man and exposed what was working behind him.

Of course, this does not surprise me now. As I get out more in religion, one of the biggest errors I see is the way people use Old Testament saints as examples of our covenant. We cannot do that. God dealt with spiritually dead men differently than He deals with spiritually alive men, which is what we are.

After all these years, I am not surprised now when He says, "Now that you can hear Me enough from praying in tongues, try to go to the Old Testament and use different examples." I never could get the flow to go there. When He told me why, I was not surprised, because of the way we use them as examples for what we do and the way we live.

He said the things that happened to them happened to them as examples for you and me. That does not mean you do not have to understand what happened to them, how it happened under the covenant they were walking under, and according to what He said. God is the same yesterday, today, and forever. He is a righteous God, so He has to deal with things in proportion to that, but He dealt with them differently than He deals with us.

I was talking to different ones, and a teaching seems to be gaining popularity about falling under the power.

Years ago, I went to one place to hold a revival, and they did not allow catchers. This pastor had a great revelation. I can remember him railing on me in the office, saying, "Well, if Kenneth Hagin had come out with it, it would have been accepted."

I thought to myself, "That is right, old little one crying in the wilderness. It would have been accepted."

So the first line we had, two or three people crashed to the floor. No carpet, and their heads were bouncing like basketballs. Then I said, "I will have my pilot catch."

Two of his ushers restrained my pilot. They literally held him in his chair when he tried to get out.

After that meeting was over, I said from the pulpit, "This man will trust me to teach the eternal Word of God that can shape your life forever, but he will not let me move in the Spirit. I am closing the meeting now."

He took me in and said, "In our clause we said that we would not allow catchers, and you agreed to it."

I said, "If I did, I did not know it. Did we sign something? I did not know it if I did."

So, according to him, I had bound myself to my word. I only had one more night, so I finished it.

When you have genuine people in the land, like prophets, and you have history to read about men like Smith Wigglesworth and John G. Lake, and then this phenomenon begins, people can take things too far. In some places they will say, "We will no longer fall under the power because we have to stand to receive certain things."

One thing is for sure: the Body of Christ never matures at the same rate. There are always people at different places. So who is it that stops falling down under the power? Who is it that stands there and receives? How mature do you have to be? Do babies continue to fall, and mature people stand up and receive? Where is the dividing line? How do you know the difference?

This gets into a big mess, but I understand why. One thing the Lord said to me was, "Most of them are trying to cover because they do not spend enough time with Me for Me to be present to do much of that anyway."

I can go along with that.

It was simple to them under Jesus: "When Jesus prayed for people, they did not fall down."

Well, when they tried to arrest Him, everybody but Jesus fell down. Of course, then the next statement is, "That was not a healing anointing."

I can tell you why people fall down, if it makes that much difference to you. Generally, it has been my experience that there is a wind that will blow on me from the outside. But it is not until that wind reaches my spirit, hardly. There is something about Him being magnified inside my born-again spirit that, temporarily, I lose it for just a second or two in my senses.

I am starting to believe that is one of the greatest benefits of God. You are coming up resisting big time. You have strongholds built in your soul, and they are feeding your intellect: "You cannot be healed. You cannot be healed." Then all of a sudden, you are under anesthetic. Your mind loses control for a second, and God runs in and slips it in on you.

But when Jesus ministered to all those people who got healed, they were spiritually dead. There was no magnification of His glory and power in their spirits.

But under the shadow in Solomon's temple, they could not stand when His glory came in, much less under the true. When He magnifies Himself in my spirit, I have trouble standing when I am all by myself.

In that last seeking time I was in, every time I raised my hands, He started pushing me over. Just like the man who cried the other day. I said, "Why are you leaning at a forty-five?"

I stepped up to him, and he was leaning way back while nobody was doing anything.

I said, "Why are you leaning at a forty-five?"

He said, "Something is pushing on me."

I just lost it. That was one of the funniest things I ever heard. But he was right.

I would lift my hands, and I thought my hands were pulling me over because I was weak from fasting. So I lifted my hands and started over. I said, "God, will You forgive me my folly?"

Then I left my hands down, tried it again, and got braced a little. Hallelujah. He started pushing me backward again. I said, "This is really good. I really like that."

Peter said, "No, far be it from You. You are not going to go."

Jesus said, "Get behind Me, Satan."

Isn't it something that Satan was trying to stop the cross? People say he did not know it was the Lord of glory being crucified. If that is the case, did he just have a revelation there or something? He was trying to stop this man from being crucified. If he did not know, what was he trying to stop?

Everybody preaches that he excited the crowd to kill Him: "He did not know he crucified the Lord of glory, or he never would have done it." Well, here he is trying to stop it.

What got me here was how Jesus did not deal with the man. He exposed what was behind the man and said, "Get behind Me, Satan."

That is when I noticed the pattern. When Satan was taking over a nation and ruling from that nation, God would come and begin to prophesy. He would use the name of the king, such as the king of Tyrus or Babylon, and then He would start exposing Satan by the actions of that king.

I started to see this, and then I could understand Satan's movements better and equip myself better. But the things God said about him, especially through the king of Tyrus, absolutely amazed me.

Go over to Ezekiel 28. I do not know if I am right or not, but I have purposed in my heart to try to make it further than I have the last several times.

In Ezekiel 28:12, He says:

Son of man, take up a lamentation upon the king of Tyrus, and say unto him, Thus saith the Lord God; Thou sealest up the sum, full of wisdom, and perfect in beauty.

Thou hast been in Eden the garden of God; every precious stone was thy covering, the sardius, topaz, and the diamond, the beryl, the onyx, and the jasper, the sapphire, the emerald, and the carbuncle, and gold: the workmanship of thy tabrets and of thy pipes was prepared in thee in the day that thou wast created.

Thou art the anointed cherub that covereth; and I have set thee so: thou wast upon the holy mountain of God; thou hast walked up and down in the midst of the stones of fire.

Thou wast perfect in thy ways from the day that thou wast created, till iniquity was found in thee.

By the multitude of thy merchandise they have filled the midst of thee with violence, and thou hast sinned: therefore I will cast thee as profane out of the mountain of God: and I will destroy thee, O covering cherub, from the midst of the stones of fire.

Thine heart was lifted up because of thy beauty, thou hast corrupted thy wisdom by reason of thy brightness: I will cast thee to the ground, I will lay thee before kings, that they may behold thee.

Now this is interesting: instruments of worship, tabrets and pipes, were prepared in him from the day he was created.

When Satan begins to rule on this earth in different places, and corrupts what he begins to draw to himself, what he tries to control and what he tries to do gives you a hint of what he is after.

I could never figure his fall out. I could not see how somebody with the position he had could fall. The sum total of everything God had created pertaining to beauty and creation up to the time of his creation was created in him. The anointed cherub that covereth probably had nothing like him.

In our minds it is hard to conceive that a being could exist that close to God: an anointed cherub that covereth; an angel full of brightness, beauty, glory, wisdom, and anointing; one with whom God allotted His power and presence, probably like no other creature. Yet he could fall.

His appetites are exposed when he tries to live them through men, such as these kings, collecting to himself wealth, merchandise, and reign. You can see his hand in all of it, knowing what he is. Whenever he gets a king who can rule enough people, the next sequence of events is that he enters into some state of deity. He begins to think he is deity. People have to come and worship him.

In these last teachings we have been doing on exposing him, it is easy to understand what Satan was really after in the last thing he used on Jesus in the temptation in the wilderness.

Jesus Himself fasted forty days, even though He had a spirit born spiritually alive. He still fasted forty days to prepare His flesh for the same kind of testing that Adam failed.

So here He is in the wilderness, and the devil comes at Him three different ways: spirit, soul, and body.

In the body realm, he said, "Turn these stones to bread."

In the soul realm, he wanted Him to jump off the pinnacle of the temple on a misapplication of a verse: "The angels will not allow You to dash Your foot against a stone." But it depends on the circumstances with which you approach the stone.

When Jesus discerned it, He said, "You are not going to tempt God. I am not going to tempt Him."

The soul realm is where the emotions generally are manifested. The devil controls most people through their emotions, because when he is behind them, they are stronger than the will. If there is one thing that dominates will, it is emotion. So when Satan is behind emotion, you are just about out of it.

He can use emotions for destruction of reasoning. The only thing that will rise in the epitome of those emotions is the same kind of statements all the time: destruction of reasoning. No matter what you say, their minds switch off of what you are saying and onto all of what they are, their problems, and what is destroying them. They cannot hear.

Of course, peace is one of the most powerful attributes a person can walk by. That is why we named our set of tapes, Peace: The Aggressive Weapon of God. It took a while for that statement to surface, but there is no better description of peace. It is an aggressive weapon. It will stop Satan and turn him before he can get into your camp or your foundation. He can rant and rave around you and blow on your house, but when it is over, the final decision goes to you. Your house will still be standing.

You have to understand that Satan is the father of all lies. The power he held over the human race was spiritual death. Hebrews says Jesus destroyed him that had the power of death, that is, the devil. So when Jesus destroyed spiritual death, He destroyed the hold Satan had over you.

"Well, I do not think so."

That is why you are where you are.

When Jesus took that second temptation on, you have to understand that what He stood up under that day would put any person in the lowest level of any insane asylum. Do you think you have stood up against things? He had the whole machinery of a supernatural being against one man.

So when He turned around and said, "Behold, I give you power over all the power of the enemy," that power was based on the standing He gave you. He could not fall under what Satan had, because if He fell under what Satan had, you could fall under what you have, because He gave you what He had.

He shut him down. What He stood up under would put anything anywhere. Then He turned around and said, "Behold, I give you power over all the power of the enemy." It was His standing that He gave me.

When I tell the devil to go, he has to go. First of all, Jesus defeated him with what I have and what you have. Then He went on to pay the penalty for you and me, and then gave us what He had and what He defeated him with, which is His standing.

So you say, "Devil, go."

I hope you do not think he leaves because of his great respect for you. He leaves because of the standing God gave you. He knows that if he does not leave, and you know who you are, then the Holy Ghost is going to give him a real bad time. It is better for him to leave when you tell him to leave, if you know what you are doing.

Hallelujah, Jesus.

Sometimes, especially overseas, when thirty or forty people fall down and start thrashing, with eyes rolling, you can always tell because they are usually standing, and holes appear in the crowd where they are moving around. Little potholes all over the crowd.

"There is another devil. There is another one manifesting."

In a preacher's meeting of four thousand, about thirty or forty of them manifested. The devil was throwing them all over the crowd. Some of them went up and started slapping them in the face. I do not know why they do that in India. Some woman will be screaming and the devil coming out, and they will slap her in the face. I have seen more than one do it.

Now, if you are screaming hysterically, that is another thing. It always works. I would not know about that.

I just say, "Look, those devils were there. They came in with you people. Now that they are coming out, why do you not let them come out? Stay out of it. If you could have gotten them out, they would have been out before you came. So stay out of it. Let God finish."

Amen.

Then Satan moved on to the spirit. This tells you what he was after.

What a messed-up corruption of wisdom. What a self-exalted opinion of himself. By his own brightness, his own wisdom was corrupted. What kind of opinion does this being have of himself?

I liked what Rick Joyner said about that in his book. He said true humble people wore something like burlap sacks. What was that doing? It was covering up their brightness so they would not be blinded by it themselves. But the people who were not so humble wore all their brightness on the outside.

I got a kick out of it. People would come by with a burlap sack on, and heaven would just stop to look at them because they really reigned.

That proved the revelation I have about why people do certain things. Some do it innocently because they followed somebody into it who did it by deception.

We have people preaching, the Holy Ghost moving and using them for years, and one day they just get it. They get a robe and put it on, with a long robe and a real high collar, come out, and look around. They have definitely separated themselves from us. They are a priesthood or something.

It finally got to troubling me because we had a big rash of it. I really started wanting to know, and I was communing with my heart. Again He said to me, "They are demanding respect from the people that they are not getting from Me."

When you are complete in Him, the adorning He has done for you is by the Spirit: meekness, a humble spirit, and that kind of thing, along with His glory and power. When He is through adorning you, you do not need anything on your outer man that marks you as different from everybody else.

Then I remember when people got so humble that they ran around glorifying themselves for their humility. I do not know if you remember that era when you could not get them to teach unless they had Levi's and a T-shirt on.

Well, that is not me. These are slacks.

The problem was that they were under just as much bondage. If they went to a friend's wedding and had to wear a tuxedo, they would put a tuxedo on. But if the wedding was at six and they had to preach at seven, and did not have time to change, they would still have to stop because they could not come and preach in the tuxedo. They had to go put their Levi's on. God forbid somebody might think they were not humble.

So you can put yourself in bondage that way.

The Lord said, "When you are complete and adorned by Me, you can put drab gray on and go sit in the corner. It does not matter, because the man is complete."

For God to expose Satan this way and show us what these kings wanted, and how they ended up acting when their empires gained power and became wealthy, beautiful, exalted, and worshiped by the rest of the earth, shows what a sick creature he is. He is so deceived by himself and corrupted by his own wisdom.

Because of the first Adam, he literally thought there would be a chance for the same corruption, the same worship he was getting, and the same collection of nations and exalted men ruling in his stead: murderers.

You do not just make a Roman road, kill everybody who resists you, and then have the rest pay high taxes so you can sit around in hot pools and play God.

The devil could tell you what was in his heart. He thought Jesus would get down and worship him.

"Here is the glory of the kingdoms and the wealth of them. It will all be Yours, if You will turn around and worship me."

He wanted His worship.

When I finally saw that, I knew what God had that Satan really wanted.

Only God knows how long Satan reigned with Him as the anointed cherub that covereth, with his beauty, his instruments of worship, and the pipes created in him on the day he was created. He had that beauty as the sum total.

When he went into an open creation to worship God, I do not know if you can even begin to imagine the beauty of looking at him as the anointed covering of everything God was. If you could understand what he carried, and the beauty and weight he carried, you would see that he was made to open creation to worship and fill the universe with worship.

You cannot imagine his position. Those pipes were created in him to worship. Can you imagine, with God creating that in him, the voice and the way that he led? Can you imagine what it did to creation?

Of all the things God has given to us and through us, He dressed the garden for Adam and made wonderful things available to him. It was God to him.

Now in redemption, with us born again, it is God to us and through us. Even our works, the things we do for Him, even when we fear Him and win souls because we fear God, even when we carry on this program or that program, like the older son of the prodigal, not daring to disobey any commandment He has ever given us, all of that can still miss the fellowship God is looking for.

We were created unto good works. They did not create us.

All that God has and has done comes to us and through us, and it is for us. Yet originally in creation He created us for a reason. Understanding His attributes, there are things God created us for. He would not have created us if He needed nothing and no one to be with Him.

A strong attribute He has is life and love. He created us to be with Him, and He could not have created us to be with Him without wanting us to be with Him. There is no use creating us if He did not want us with Him. He wanted us to be with Him, and He even calls us sons and daughters because we have been born of Him.

He created us for this. He is busy giving us all of this and fighting for redemption all these years, all these things happening. There is only one thing you can do that really ministers to Him: give yourself back.

Now, Satan is not the creator. The word worship was created between two beings. Some rock stars just admit it. They walk out and say, "Worship me." But worship is a specially coined word. It can only take place between Creator and created. The word will not work anywhere else.

So we hold this with our Father. He said, "Giving thanks to God and the Father." He is God, and He fills that role as the One who can do everything. But He also fills the role as Father.

To you, He is different than He is to any other creation in the whole universe, including the angels. To the angels, He is God Creator. To you, He is God Father.

In your creation, He created you because of that one word that goes on. We do not want to misdefine worship, because it can only go on between Creator and created.

We look at it like, "I am supposed to give Him praise, and I am supposed to give Him worship because He is God, so I am going to put in this much time."

When God forced me into my worship closet to put in a certain amount of time, I went in there in legalism and came out as a son of God in fellowship with Him.

That word holds a certain place. It can only go on between you and Him. It is not some self-exalted, haughty, self-indulgent God who only gets His kicks when you are down on your face like a sacrifice saying, "O holy High One who could kill me and turn me into a grease spot, I had better get down and kill an animal with my mouth and worship You a while."

Those days are over. They could not give Him the fellowship He has restored us to, not an Old Testament saint. They did not have it to give. They ran around on the earth and acknowledged Him and acknowledged His works, but they did not have it to give.

You do. You have been restored into sonship. You have it to give Him. Not the exterior worship of Majesty, High Killer of Nations, Deliverer, Avenger. He said:

They shall not teach every man his neighbor, saying, Know the Lord: for all shall know me, from the least to the greatest.

As you have been born again, it caused His law to be written in your heart and mind as part of your conscience and the new nature He has given you. Every one of you has the same access to Him that any child born in any family would have. Whether you are first, fourteenth, fifteenth, or sixteenth, He is your Father, and you can approach Him like the firstborn.

The ones down the line do not teach you about Him while you know Him from a distance. You can know Him. It is up to you.

That is what worship was: the fellowship He desired. When you approach Him, fellowship with Him, love Him, and glorify Him, both as God and as your Father, He will be God to you, but He will be more than that. He will be your Father.

Hello, inheritance.

This is why we were created and born as His sons and daughters. Satan, in the eons of time, was the one who had incited worship and could fill the universe with it. Corrupted by his own beauty and wisdom, he began to see that this was truly why everything existed: to fellowship with Him as Creator and as Father. He began to see the great pleasure it brought Him.

That is one reason Rick Joyner's book did not surprise me when he said that when Satan has you cornered east, west, north, and south, and there is no way out, and everything says you are going to fail, and everything says you are destroyed, and you choose to lift your hands and worship Him, it moves your Father beyond anything you can imagine.

Why? Because you did it in the face of opposition.

It cost God millions of people in hell to leave your will free so you could be His son or daughter. When you choose, by your own free will, to lift your hands and worship Him when it could not be any worse, yes, it moves Him to tears. It does, because it cost Him millions in hell for your freedom to do that.

When Satan saw how God received worship, and when he saw that of all the things God received and wanted this was worth anything, it was not gathering worlds to yourself. Satan wants to gather the social systems. He wants all the wealth of them. He wants all of it because he wants them to worship him.

When he saw the pleasure worship brought the Father, he wanted it. That is where his fall came from.

When you have this body subjected to sin, pressure, and beatings, and you are consecrated to your Father, then you will go into camps and win people. In the middle of all that, as His champion, you can lift your hands and still give your Father worship.

There will never be another time in your creation when you can give Him as much as you can give Him now. Never.

After a while, when everybody is in bed and it gets light, I cannot stay there. I have to go. At first it may be some kind of chore or obligation, some kind of discipline that causes you to get up at dawn. But no, it is past that. It started like that, but there seems to be a call in me.

I wake up sometimes at three or three-thirty in the morning, and the call in me says, "Come away. Come on. I am waiting. There is nothing else, absolutely nothing else, that will give you what you are about to get."

When you are in the desert, three-quarters dehydrated, what do you want? Can anything else do what a glass of water will do?

Go back to our old friend John 4 for a minute. Let me show you something before I have to close.

John 4:23-24:

But the hour cometh, and now is, when the true worshippers shall worship the Father in spirit and in truth: for the Father seeketh such to worship him.

God is a Spirit: and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth.

"The hour cometh, and now is." That hour was forty-one years long. On the millennial time clock, He was telling the Samaritan woman that the hour had finally come after four thousand years when the true worshipers would be able to worship Him in spirit and in truth.

In spirit, the King James got it right, because He is talking about worship out of your human spirit.

The bottom line is that Old Testament saints could not worship Him in spirit, and you can. This is the positional truth Jesus sat down on the edge of Jacob's well and told the Samaritan woman. This hour now is: the time when Jesus would live, die, and resurrect, and the true worshipers would finally be able to worship Him out of the spirit, out of the born-again spirit, and in truth.

He said the Father seeketh such to worship Him. Of course He is looking for you now, but in light of this scripture, He searched out the dispensations of four thousand years. He sought, waited, and waited out those dispensations for the first men to appear spiritually alive who could finally enter back into fellowship with Him.

When He said the Father seeketh such to worship Him, in the next verse He gives the explanation: "For God is a Spirit."

He is a Spirit. He has that nature. You have been made a partaker of His divine nature. Now you can finally give Him the fellowship He lost when Adam sold the whole human race out to the sin nature. He did not have that anymore.

They could only get so close to human beings, and then they were totally unpredictable. King Solomon, after perfecting the shadow, came as close as you could get. He brought them right up to the lip of the born-again experience in all the shadow and type, but he could not lead them in.

That is why Jesus said, "A greater than Solomon is here."

Then He said, "Is a candle lit to be hid under a bushel?" The wisdom Solomon reigned with is to his reign what the new nature is to your spirit. That is why, after that statement, Jesus says, "Is a candle brought into a dark room?" Why? Because that candle to the dark room is the same thing your new nature is to your spirit.

Solomon could lead them to the lip, but he could not bring them in. That is why Jesus said, "A greater than Solomon is here." Solomon reigned with the shadow of the wisdom, but not you. You have the candle, and the dark room has been lit.

All of you shall know Me from the least to the greatest, and nobody can stop anything because it is up to you.

Hallelujah.

John the Baptist was born of women, and there was none greater than John. Notwithstanding, he that is least in the kingdom of God is greater than he. So Jesus separated the least in the kingdom from John, which meant John was not in the kingdom of God yet. Not until Jesus rose from the dead.

Then he went home, left the shadow, and went to the true in the presence of God Himself. But in the shadow, they were in comfort there. Abraham's bosom was a nice place to wait out the dispensations. Very nice.

But John is not in the shadow anymore. He is in what was making the shadow: the Body of Christ. You cannot be in the shadow of what is making it at the same time, can you? All they do is touch, and then you go from one to the other.

Understand that this is a positional truth. If you do not understand that, you will go into one of those teachings that says when you worship Him in spirit and in truth, you are not really in the Spirit unless you feel Him.

He ordered me into the closet, and I went in under a legalistic mandate to spend a certain number of hours. Can you imagine telling your wife, "I am going to glorify and adore you for a couple of hours, and then time is up"?

She says, "Adore me a little while."

"Oh, shut up. Yet go in there another two hours."

It starts that way. He ordered me into the closet because He knew I would outlast the flesh. He knew I had something going for me: a stubborn streak as wide as the white streak on a skunk's back.

A bulldog can kill a skunk. That is just like fighting with somebody. You might be able to win, but you are going to be affected by the battle. Of course, you can beat them to death. You are bigger than they are. But you are not going to get away from it altogether free. People will be able to tell you have been in a fight.

Because I entered in legalistically, when the rounds where I had worshiped and walked with Him before were done, I was left with nothing but the hours. I could worship Him for an hour and say, "Hey, this is good. Hi. Hello." But after an hour, He went home.

Sometimes I had to be in there four or five hours, and I could not even tell that He came to visit me. I felt like a mummy that had been unwrapped. Every breath was a little dry powder puff.

"Glory. Glory."

Little white puffs.

"Glory. Hallelujah."

Later I would get the spatula and get those little pancake worship words off the floor and throw them up.

God would retreat, and then He would come and visit me. Then I noticed after a while that He started visiting me a little longer and a little longer. Sometimes He would follow me around for the day, and then a week. It got longer and longer. Then I would lift my hands, and He came every time.

Then I found there is healing in it. I will have to give you some testimonies from last week later. I found that there was really healing in that presence.

Now I finally understand why He brought me into it like He did and ordered me in. I legalistically outlasted all the dry spells.

After you are in there for a while, did you know you are already walking in a certain fellowship with God as far as His presence is concerned? So all God does after you are in there for a while is retreat and leave you where you are really walking.

If you keep worshiping Him, pretty soon all the flesh and things between you and Him, where you were really walking, get narrower and narrower until pretty soon He is really walking right there with you in a manifested presence. That is when He stays.

"When should I start?"

Every blue-collar worker, lawyer, and king of nations has to start in the same place, because all shall know Him from the least to the greatest. He has no favorites.

"I have all my time tied up."

Yes, but three months from now it would not have to be. Just a little planning. Who do you love? What do you want?

Five years will go by, and you will be the same if you do not do something you have not done before. If you are going to change, and you have not changed in the last ten years, obviously you are going to have to do something you have not done before. Or you can stay the same, ten years will go by, and you will look and say, "Nothing has changed."

Yes, everything has changed.

Hallelujah.

He will start coming closer and closer to you, to the fellowship you are really walking in. He would come on me in the services and do miracles, but He would lift off of them, lift off of me, and go home. I could worship Him and stand there and pray for a while, and after a while He would come when I tried to pray for somebody. But I was not walking there.

Eventually, instead of Him retreating back to where you are really walking, He lets you worship Him and pay that kind of price, whether you feel Him or do not feel Him. It is a positional truth. You are giving Him what He wants.

In fact, you are actually getting through more when He retreats back to where you really walk and you will not stop anyway.

"I do not care what I feel like. I am not stopping."

He really likes that, because after a while, that will be where you are really walking: right there with Him. You can feel His geographical, manifested, miracle-working presence in whatever house you are in, whatever hospital you go to, or wherever you go.

"Well, I just do not have time to pray."

Come in for counsel. Bring the hours you watch television and a calculator.

I think we need some "He is here."

God knows your heart. It may work on me, but it will not fly with Him.

We want revival. Revival is made out of heart.
