

Preparing for Your Calling

We are studying the laws of meditation, so we will go to Psalm 1:1. Let us review this briefly.

We are going to continue our study into the kind of meditation that causes this Word to become part of you and causes you to become part of it. It is the kind Jesus described when He said:

If My words abide in you, and you abide in Me, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you.

My Word becomes part of you. You become part of it. You become part of Me. I become part of you. You can ask what you will, and it shall be done.

How many know there is a place in Him? Hallelujah.

Last Friday night I was talking about three of the greatest things that ever happened to me. One was the first time blind eyes opened. The second was when two college professors--one taught language and the other speech--both wanted to talk to me. I thought it was to correct my grammar, but I found out they wanted to know who taught me how to meditate.

The third great time was when Bernard, who was a professor of journalism, wanted to know who taught me how to write and how to capture the thoughts down. Again, I had to say it was the Holy Spirit.

The reason these times were so great to me is because Grandpa always told me I would never amount to anything. When he got mad, I guess he saw my dad in me. He would say, "You are no good. You never will be. You are never going to amount to anything."

That got into me.

Then I was born again in holiness, and the way they preached about God, I thought He was as mad at me as my dad was when he left us. Then I came to find out He is good. He is good. He made me righteous, and I could run to Him with my problems.

At the same time, at the age of thirty, I went full time and discovered praying in the Holy Ghost. I did not know for a full three to six months that praying in tongues had begun to be the source of revelation knowledge that started flowing into my life.

It was during that first year that I lost my mind and picked up the mind of Christ. He began to teach me that I was worth something, that I could learn, that I could amount to something. As I kept transforming, I kept losing my old man and gaining Christ, losing my old mind and gaining Christ.

Seven years from the time I went full time, I walked into Grace Fellowship and preached my first revival to thousands of people. Tape sales in the first six months topped $25,000 in a month. I was seven years into full time. A lot of those events, I thought I had died and gone to heaven.

You see, when you get to know Jesus through praying in the Holy Ghost, when the Holy Spirit begins to reveal Him in you, I will tell you where intense hunger and very intense desire come from. They come when the Holy Ghost is able, because of the freedom you give Him, to empower your soul with that new nature.

When He starts empowering your soul with that new nature, that is where that intense appetite and desire to know Him come from. Whether you are lawyer, preacher, prophet, or Indian chief, it does not make any difference. When the Holy Ghost takes that new nature and rises up and seizes your soul, that is where the intense hunger comes from that begins to drive a person.

Through much prayer in those early days, that transformation process began. But as the years went by, I found certain things I could do that would assist the Holy Spirit in my transformation process, as He was wanting to transform my whole soul with that new nature.

Yet if I never go to the Word, or do not refer to the Word much, then I can make the ministry of the Holy Spirit very difficult, even though I am praying in the Holy Ghost. Some of the very first things He taught me were how to meditate and how to give myself to the Word.

Again, my friends, I am not talking in regard to my own life and ministry. I know I am called to preach. I know I am called to handle the Word. I know I am called to teach the Word. I know that.

But if you think God is respecting me as far as my meditation goes, as far as my extraction of revelation knowledge from the Word of God is concerned, I can promise you this: whether you are apostle, prophet, teacher, governments, or Mr. Businessman, it does not matter.

Our steward ministry helps the call to handle God's money, to make it and steward God's money. I am not talking about being accountable to a church system with the church money. I am talking about you turning billions over to the gospel because you are a smart fellow, smarter than the devil, that is for sure.

I do not care what your call is. I am going to ask you a question. Why am I up here teaching you? I know you have other things to do in this world. It takes many of your hours. But why am I up here teaching you?

Is it not because God wants you to know what I know? Would it not stand to reason, my friend, that if I am teaching you, it is because God wants you to know what I know, because He wants you to know what is in the Word?

So if He wants you to know what I know, why would God limit you to me? Why would He limit you to one avenue of teaching? Would not God seize upon every opportunity to transform you to the Word by the power of the Holy Ghost? He would use Him all He could. He would use example. He would use every possible avenue for your transformation.

There is no option on revelation knowledge. There is no corner. I do not have an option. We are to assist your transformation. I am called to assist it. But I will tell you right now, God will get revelation knowledge over to you any way He can. I have no corner on this.

In case you are thinking, "Brother Roberson, does God not favor you? Does He not give you something on us, after all, because you are called to teach us?"

No. The teaching gift, my friend, is an anointing to deliver the Word. I do not have a corner on the market. Did you know I have no more access to revelation knowledge than you do? As you get in there, God will teach you the same things He taught me.

"But I am not called to teach."

It does not matter. It is part of your transformation.

Hallelujah. I do not have a corner.

Then what is the teaching gift? It is the ability to communicate it. That is when that gift comes on me, reaches in, takes a revelation I have stored up, and uses my mind to deliver it. That is where that gift ends. I do not have a corner on the market.

This is why He wants me to continually teach you about the things you can do that will cause your transformation. You can go in yourself and get it because teachers do not have a corner on the market. You can stand before God and receive all that you want from Him just because you want to.

I can teach you, and I have been doing it. I can teach you how to enter into the holiest of holies, stand up in the presence of God, square your shoulders, and you and Him take a bath in revelation knowledge, with no other human being involved. I can teach you how to do that.

When you learn how to extract revelation knowledge from those pages, and finally have the revelation of revelation dawn on you--that the mind of God is about to become your mind, that eternity is about to speak to you with unchanging thoughts, that the eternal, forever-settled Word of God is in heaven and earth, and everything will pass--God makes no mistakes.

He did not make one when He made you. He did not make one when He made Adam. God makes no mistakes. What He said, He does not have to change. Our job is to find it.

When you start finding, and it starts opening up, I will tell you right now, it is the most exciting trip you will ever go on. You can tell when you are next to something. My God, you can tell when it is going to explode. I can feel it. I have gotten off enough airplanes in new countries not to know what to expect. That is how it feels.

I can pass through a chapter a hundred times and not quite see it. Then the hundredth time--you had better hope I am not with you when that happens. Sometimes it happens when I am writing on that yellow pad. The first person I see, I seize upon them and make them stand there, sometimes for fifteen minutes, because I am so excited inside. There is not anything else that excites me anymore like miracles in God's mind.

You say, "Brother Roberson, can you teach me about that holy place with God?"

Yes, sir. It is almost scary to know all of this is available.

Your transformation takes place from phase to phase, from glory to glory. When it is with God, He adds His power, because the commission of the Holy Spirit is to reveal Jesus in you through that new nature. Buddy, you are talking about pure power. Hallelujah. Pure fellowship and power. It is the most glorious thing.

Let us pass in review just a little bit as we enter in here.

"Can you teach me how, Brother Roberson?"

Oh yes. Hallelujah.

We have taught you about your righteousness and your rights to enter into the holiest of holies, to stand up in the presence of God knowing you have a right to be in there.

We have taught you your rights about healing. You have to go into His presence and know that thing does not have a right to stay in your body, and that you have the equipment to run it out with. Know you have rights to stand in His presence and be healed just because you are the righteousness of God in Christ.

Well, I am telling you that you have a right to go into the same holiest of holies, stand up, square your shoulders, and you and Him, you and God, you and your teacher, the Holy Ghost, take a bath in revelation.

Hallelujah, Jesus.

Praying in tongues is the most valuable aid to meditation that I know. All those mysteries you are praying, according to 1 Corinthians 14, are the mystery of Christ in you, to you, and through you, the hope of glory. Eventually, those mysteries that you spend extended times praying, God is going to answer. It is as simple as that. It comes in the form of interpretation.

He says, "He that prophesieth speaks to the Church." Why? Because the mind of Christ comes, I prophesy it to you, and you are edified, comforted, and exhorted. For the now, I spoke the mind of Christ to you through prophecy.

So He says, "He that prophesieth edifieth the Church, but he that prayeth in an unknown tongue edifieth himself."

Why am I edified? For the same reason the Church is edified: because the mind of Christ is revealed collectively to the Church. But a man who spends any amount of time praying in the Holy Ghost and speaking in those mysteries is edified because he is beginning a process where the mind of Christ is going to be revealed in him as an individual.

Prophecy is collective. Praying in tongues edifies you because the mind of Christ, the mysteries of Christ, will be revealed in you as an individual.

God set this up in such a way that yes, it benefits you to lock yourself up in the prayer closet. Yes. It benefits you to get your mind quiet and lie there in His presence and pray in tongues. Yes. But it also benefits you if you can do it while you are running about your business and driving your car, if you have the kind of job where you can pray under your breath hour after hour. It benefits you.

He left your brain out for a reason. He is building an edification to invade your soul against the day when the mysteries of Christ in you, through you, and to you, the hope of glory, are going to be understood by you.

The day you decide to pray very much at all, you have decided to walk into the classroom of the Holy Ghost and sit down. He becomes the minister of your understanding. He becomes the minister of wisdom to you, of divine insight. He becomes the minister of the understanding of the mysteries in you, the hope of glory.

When the Holy Ghost began to teach me the laws that govern meditation in His Word, He began to teach me what I could do to assist Him in my transformation.

The more I pray in the Holy Ghost, the more that new nature seems to invade my soul, and the more intense my hunger becomes. That is when I want to give myself any way I can to God.

Jesus said, "My words, they are spirit, and they are life." If you are looking for the life of God, you can find it in His words. If you want to transform to the Holy Spirit, look at what He said. Jesus said, "My words, they are spirit." You do not have to look any further for instructions to transform to.

I found out there were certain laws I could give myself to in the meditation of His Word that would assist in the transformation of my soul. When I found out how the soul worked, you talk about speeding the process of God up on the inside of me.

People, why do you think a child, by the age of five, can assimilate two or three languages? Did you know most of you out here have assimilated two languages? Not just one, two. When you speak them, you do not have to give any thought to it.

How many have experienced age? Sometimes you know what you want to say because it is in there, but the words will not come. Generally, though, you do not have to think. When you want to say something, it just flows out. It is translated instantly. Out of your heart, you just say it.

I used to think I only knew one language, but I do not. I know two. In fact, I know three. One of them does not require my mind, so I do not count that one, which is tongues. I pray in tongues, but I do not know what I am saying, so I do not count that language as one I knew by my intellect.

But I know two languages by my intellect.

"Portuguese?"

No. I know a little bit. No, I only speak basically one English, and if you listened to teachers, they would say I have problems with that one.

But if you are subject to it, you can assimilate two or three languages by the time you are five years old and speak them all fluently. You did not even know that. In fact, you did not even know you did it. By the time you become a teenager, you can fluently speak three or four languages and not even know how you did it.

Later on, when we only use one attribute of the soul, which is the intellect, that is what we try to learn entire languages with. We take another language in school.

People, there are three other attributes to your soul. By the time we get done teaching you, you will see there is a way to meditate His Word so you can assimilate it. It is not just mental assent. You give yourself to it and assimilate it until it becomes part of you, and you become part of it.

When we try to learn a new language, generally by the time we reach high school and take an optional class like Spanish, the way we try to learn that language is by mentally comparing a Spanish word to an English word. You are only using one attribute of the soul. Assimilation will be very slow, and it will be in a realm where you will forget it all the time because it is stored in the lightest place in you for recall.

So we are trying to learn Portuguese or something:

"Obrigado. Thank you. Obrigado. Thank you. Obrigado, senhora. Thank you, ma'am."

Then when you get there and you are embarrassed, if somebody comes up and says something, you say, "Obrigado."

Then they come out with all the rest in Portuguese, and you say, "Excuse me, I cannot speak it. I admit it. Um pouco em portugues. A little Portuguese. Just enough to get myself in trouble."

But in the soul we have our mind, our will, our intellect, and our emotions. Emotions are one of the most powerful transforming attributes of the soul. However, they generally hang on the longest. Emotion is usually the one that empowers the strongholds in a person's life that are last to go.

But I can tell you this: if you learn to meditate His Word by using all the attributes of the soul, you will go from intellectually giving yourself to it and consenting to it just with the intellect, to giving yourself completely to it and assimilating the thing. I mean assimilating.

Here I am trying to use my intellect to learn this language, and I cannot. But the soul is created by God to transform you basically to what you give it to the most.

Do you know how sick I felt when I realized the only reason I was not a multimillionaire by the time I was thirty was because I did not think like one? I was never transformed to think like one. I was never transformed to be a millionaire before I became a millionaire. Therefore, I could not be a millionaire because I was not a millionaire before I became a millionaire.

You become a millionaire before you become a millionaire. Most of us are not millionaires because we live in strongholds that do not allow us to be one. Those strongholds you pull down from the soul are every bit as strong as prison bars. You could escape from Leavenworth faster than you can escape the prison of your soul when you have been raised in a stronghold, something that has to be pulled down before you can be transformed or changed.

When I found out a lot of what I was and a lot of what I wanted to be went against the Word of God, and the Holy Ghost began to teach me how this transformation took place, I found out how to give myself to the Word of God and equip myself for meditation. I mean the kind where the Holy Spirit is able to rise up from my spirit and grab hold of what I have transformed my soul to. When He grabs hold of what I have transformed my soul to, the Spirit comes with that spiritual insight and wisdom and brings the two together. That is where His power comes from.

Even at your age, you could assimilate a new language very quickly. All we would have to do is fly you over a remote Brazilian village with no English-speaking people in it, throw you out, and pick you up in two or three years. I guarantee you, your soul has the power to transform you to Portuguese.

It has the power to transform you to where you do not even have to think and translate the language in your mind. When people pause and think a language out, that means they have to translate it from English to Portuguese or Portuguese to English before they speak it. They do not think in Portuguese. They think, "Hello," then they have to translate it.

But when your soul assimilates something, including the Word of God, you do not have to stop and think what God would say about this. It becomes spontaneous because you are reaching a state where it becomes part of you, and you become part of it.

Jesus said, "If My Word lives in you, and you abide in Me, ask what you will, and it shall be."

Hallelujah.

I have taught a course to preachers generally on meditation, but I have taught them more along the line of how to extract revelation and how to store it in their spirit so they can pick it up and deliver it again.

A lot of you do not preach, so I know what He wants me to teach. He wants me to teach you how to assimilate. He wants me to teach you how you can cooperate with the Holy Spirit in your transformation, where you can supply Him with the cooperation of your soul, everything He needs as He works through that new nature in your spirit to totally, absolutely transform you to what the Word of God says you are.

I am talking about giving yourself to it.

This is one of the reasons that when somebody comes to me, I usually do not volunteer a lot of it, because usually a person has to be pretty hungry to abide what I am teaching you right now. But when somebody does come, and they have found their call or they are just hungry for the Word, and they want to know, "What steps would you take in meditation to equip me for this call?" I will usually start giving them something specific.

I know some of you in here are called to the steward ministry, which is what I have discovered now that helps is. Helps and governments: helps is the steward ministry. He is the man called to handle and make God's money. God can trust him with billions. It is a call I did not know much about, but I am finding out more and more about it now.

Recently, there have been some who truly believe that in these last days they have received that call. They want to begin the process of their transformation to what the Word of God says about them and about that call.

So what I am doing now is showing you how you can assist the Holy Spirit in your transformation to the Word.

For that gift, some of the best equipping in the world for the soul, if you really believe you are called to handle massive amounts of money, is to go into the book of Proverbs. That is a good starting book. I have them read it fifty times, and I make them do it deliberately and precisely.

I want them to understand every word they read. If they want to follow closely what I teach them, this is what I make them do: If they come across a word they do not understand, that is fine. Write your words down, and go find out what they mean and what they mean in that verse. It is hard to meditate on some verses if you do not know what a single word in that verse means.

This is the first step in equipping them for their calling, because whether you succeed or not in your calling depends on whether you can become in that calling what He said you are.

There are sixty-six books out there for you. You will find out what your calling is by praying extensively in the Holy Ghost. But then, to jump-start you for the equipping for that call, there are places I can steer you depending on your calling.

For the ministry of the steward, the ministry of helps, a man called to make and handle God's money--can I prove to you that is what He is talking about? Yes, sir, I can. God started talking to me on it. It is the reason He could reveal it, because it was a mystery He was able to reveal to me because of my foundation.

There are a whole lot of things He cannot talk to you about because you have not come to the place in the Word of God where you would understand it. That is why, if you will let me help you learn how to meditate, you can equip your gift and your calling. You can assist the Holy Ghost in your transformation. You can speed it up by four or five times.

You can assimilate the Word. It becomes part of you. The Holy Ghost will use what your soul has assimilated to teach you day and night. You will become a walking, revelation-spouting Bible.

I say, "I want you to take the book of Proverbs. I want you to learn how to read it deliberately and precisely. That is every verse. I want you to acknowledge the content of every verse. You do not have to know all of what it means, but I want you to be able to acknowledge the content of it before you go on to the next one. Acknowledge what you read. When you acknowledge what you read in that verse, go on to the next one."

I have trained myself to pray under my breath in the Holy Ghost while I am reading deliberately and precisely. It was hard at first, but you can do it.

He said my spirit is praying at that point, and my understanding is unfruitful, which simply means I do not know what I am saying in the tongue at that moment. The day will come when I will. But right now my mind is not being guided or used by the Holy Spirit to understand any certain revelation, so I am going to give it, for these next few hours, to the Word of God.

Sometimes my old head will start nodding off because of the hours I put in. I will just lay back, let that thing creep over my soul, and fall asleep for about fifteen minutes. Then I am okay, and I go back. Or I jump up and do some jumping jacks to get oxygen to my brain.

I can tell you why you have to sleep. You have to sleep because that is the time your mind is not serving you actively in processing things as you are being fed in the assimilation of everything by your soul. You have to go to sleep because your mind has to be freed to do something. If you think it does not work at night, it works at night. It separates things into short-term and long-term memory and sorts your mind out.

That is why, if you keep a person awake long enough, they will go crazy. The mind cannot take it, because it has to shut down. It has to have its own time to sort everything out--what you received, what happened to you--so it can store things in short-term memory and important things in long-term memory, so you can keep functioning with everything that comes at you during the day.

Your batteries get recharged at night, and your mind sorts everything out so that, as a human being, you can live with it. That is why you need rest, my friend.

If you brag, "I just do not need much rest," maybe you have so much peace that you do not need much sorting.

The assimilation of your soul is quite a complicated thing. It is created for your survival. It will assimilate everything around you. If you need to learn the language, you will learn the language. If you are in a college atmosphere, you will assimilate that. No matter where they send you or what you do, it will assimilate your surroundings for survival's sake.

What would happen if you found out how to present the Word of God to your soul in such a way that it would assimilate it the way it assimilates everything else?

These little kids come up and speak two languages, Portuguese and English. Here they are, five or six years old in Brazil. I am thinking, "I am an adult, and they can learn one like that, and I cannot." All that ability, and they did not even try. What would happen if we learned how this worked?

I have developed to pray in tongues while I am doing it, because I think sometimes when my heart goes over to a section and I so desire to know what it means, the Holy Ghost responds and begins to pray that mystery out. Then God gives it to me. It is incredible.

So I say for the book of Proverbs, for the upcoming stewards, read every verse deliberately and precisely, without going on to the next one until you have acknowledged in yourself that you have read the last one.

Sometimes I will find myself eight, nine, ten verses down and not remember a single thing I read. The way I broke myself of that was by going back up to the last verse I left off on. I pick that one back up and read it. The last one I remember reading jogs my memory. "Yes, I remember deliberately assenting to what this verse said." Then I go on to the next one, and to the next one.

After a while, I trained myself. Every time I left a verse behind, I found out I could read while solving some kind of problem somewhere, not even paying attention to what I was reading. I said, "What good is this doing me?" So I would back up until finally, after I corrected myself two or three hundred times, I got where I could stick with it: pray in tongues and read that verse over and over.

Then I would not let them stop. I mean, you can do anything you want, but if you are not going to do what I ask you, why come back a second time? If you are not going to come back and do what I teach you, why come back a second time?

Hallelujah.

If you say, "I do not think this is going to work," then do not do it.

"What do you think, Brother Roberson?"

Man, I know. I do not think.

So I make them read it. They can study anywhere else in the world about it if they like. They can do anything they want, but in that book, I want them to assimilate it. So I make them read it fifty times. Fifty times, without stopping and doing any studies, only finding out what words mean so they will understand at least the content of the verse.

Fifty times without stopping.

When I first began to do it, I thought, "I will just take a bag of beans, and every time I read it once, I will move one bean to the other pile." But then I carried my Bible with me, so hang the bean bag. That does not work.

So at the front of Proverbs, I started marking that five system: one, two, three, four, five. I would never stop unless I had read at least half of Proverbs, and I would take a good hour the way I did it. If I stopped, I would not stop before that. If I did, then on that last line I would go one, two, three, and the one I was going to mark that day.

If I only finished a third of the book, I would put the line a third of the way down. If I did half of the book, I would put a line halfway down. If it was the fourth or fifth time I had done it, one, two, three, four, five, and I read half of it, the line went halfway down. If I read three quarters, I put the line three quarters of the way down. Then I would know, just by going to the front of Proverbs, approximately which chapter to go back to and resume.

So I read it fifty times. This is how He taught me. When He first began to teach me to do this, I said, "What are You doing?" Little did I know, God was charging my battery. He was storing information in me, all against the assimilation of it.

Fifty times.

One person I was talking to lately said, "My God, I did not know basically how much I had assimilated, because somebody will say something and all of a sudden all this comes from somewhere, and a whole teaching comes out on it. I do not even know how I knew it."

I do. You are assimilating it like you assimilate a language.

Until you assimilate a language, you are not going to speak it well. Somebody will come and say things. Emotions taught you the language. Your mind taught you it. Situations you could not get out of taught it. Everything taught it until it became part of you.

That is the same way. Your teaching time is connected with life. The assimilation of Proverbs, part of it comes when it needs to spring forward and teach you about entire situations coming your way in business decisions. That is when the assimilation of it becomes complete. He takes it from here and there and teaches it to you in real-life situations. You no longer have to commit it to your intellect because He is coming forward to solve a crisis, and that is when it becomes part of you.

Then this person asked me, "What next?"

After they read it fifty times, they did not feel much like going back and doing lots of word studies and chapter studies. They said, "What is next?"

I prayed about it: "What is next?" What God gave me to give them was John, and then 1, 2, and 3 John.

I said, "That is the next you need to assimilate."

Of course, I can tell you why. In all three places where He mentions the stewardship gift, a man who can handle all the money God can give him for the kingdom, it has to do with every gift, and in particular this one.

In Romans 12, where He called it the simplicity of giving, and the next was governments--"he that ruleth, with diligence"--He ends the chapter by saying, "Overcome evil with good."

In 1 Corinthians 12, where it is listed--apostles, prophets, teachers, miracles, gifts of healings, helps, governments, and diversities of tongues--it immediately fades into 1 Corinthians 13, where He talks about agape love. So there is your transformation to love again.

If that is not enough, in Ephesians 4, when He lists the callings after He ascended on high and gives their place in the body, He says the body increases itself by the edifying of itself in love.

So after that, the next thing a person will have to assimilate is the love of God. Boy, if you are going to handle enough power to literally destroy people's lives, and you are not transformed thoroughly to the love of God, God cannot trust you with fifty tons of TNT. That is what you get. You can destroy people all day long, or you can bring people life all day long, depending on which side of your nature won.

So that one was a hundred times.

Why? Because we are equipping your soul to assist the Holy Spirit in the transformation to the Word of God by assimilating it.

"Would you please tell me how, Brother Roberson?"

Yes, sir.

"Please tell me why."

Yes, sir.

Are you getting any good thing out of this?

Just before I tell you why on this, at the first of this year God did something to me.

He said, "Son," and as you have seen, I have been prophesying a lot more through the whole service. Some of you recognize that when I go into it, I usually come out front here and get lost in the Spirit, and I do not get back to the Word of God per se, to break down chapter and verse. Almost like today, only today is different. This is teaching.

Hallelujah.

But I do not get back to break down the chapters and things I thought I was going to break down, because suddenly the mind of Christ comes. I begin prophesying the whole service, and usually the Good Shepherd is going after someone who needs a miracle, someone being destroyed by the devil in some kind of situation. Jesus wants to minister, so I slip into prophecy and prophesy the whole service.

Recently He told me, "I want you to begin to give yourself to the Word of God differently. I want you to continually go through it on a consistent basis, time after time after time. Then I will give you books to go back and assimilate. But I want you to keep going through it time after time after time, because eventually I want to prophesy My mind in every book to the people. I want to be able to come on you and pull it up and do it as I move."

He said, "You do not know how much you lose when you stop and do intellectual little breakdowns and speeches instead of speaking My mind and the content of what is really in that book."

So He told me, "Assimilate it, son. The power lives there."

That is what has been coming more and more lately, my friends.

When we preached praying a lot in the early days to our preachers, they all adopted the praying like we taught. When we teach you the resistance to transformation, you will understand what happens to people, because that is a part of meditation. There is somebody out there who will not let you meditate and will not let you pray in the Holy Ghost.

I can tell you right now, you have to be two times stronger than the average Christian to survive steady prayer. You will find yourself taken out real slick and not even know what happened to you. Much less when you add all this meditation, my friend, you become very, very dangerous.

At that time I did not understand. I was afraid in those days that I could not feed my family. I was afraid I would fail. I locked myself up and prayed as a survival tactic. I only did it to try to please God and give Him a legal right to bless me. I did not know what it would do.

So when things got worse, I knew one thing: He sent me full time because of a vision, and He was not going to send me back. I did not choose the time I went full time. God opened me up to a vision and said, "You are going to follow Me now."

I had three little kids. I had to follow Him. I had basically nowhere to preach and nothing. I had to follow Him. I was afraid not to pray. It was not that hell did not stack up on me. I just wondered if everybody went through what I went through. I had to pray. I did not know how. I could not go back. I had nothing to go back to. I had nothing to fall into but a pit.

I had to pray. I did not know what it would do to me. I prayed, and I only prayed in tongues to survive the extended times in the closet. I did not know what it would do to me. Bless God for that day.

Many of them began to pray. Out of the forty-three ministries that I had ordained, maybe three or four of them survived. The rest of them went to something else, backslid, or quit preaching.

I called a preachers' conference, and they all came together. When I listened to them talk and saw what had happened to them, I preached about Satan's war machine. It had become horror-stricken inside me. Just real piqued, man.

I looked at them. I scared some of them so badly they left and would not come back. I looked at that bunch, and it put such a godly, reverent, holy fear into me that I came home from Oregon shaking.

I said, "I did not know the devil was so afraid of this. I had no idea."

It caused a consecration to come in my heart deeper and deeper. But he came and started destroying people. We started losing them. We lost Augie.

Augie had every reason in the natural to turn on the faith move and on the praying we were teaching. He had every reason, although we trained him and put him full time. He went from bad to worse. He started having mental breakdowns. His wife had to fight with him, and she started coming under the torment.

He finally moved off to India and just sat there. He did not even know how to survive. At times he said, "I threw my Bible against the wall and screamed at God, 'Where are You?'"

He wrote long, extended letters to people. He got turned on to faith to deny it again, to get them out of it, saying that stuff was not true and did not work. For years he hid from me.

Then he called me up one day, and he wept. I said, "Come home. Come home, Augie. Come on."

He had just begun to turn back to faith and come back before that crisis happened.

I asked him, "Augie, what stopped you from going crazy? What finally stopped you?"

Are you ready for this?

Augie said, "I got where I did not trust anybody. I did not know where to go get my food from. I was a wreck. Nothing was real."

I said, "I know that spirit, Augie."

I sat him down and taught him all about Satan's war machine, who did it to him and what it was. He is out of it now. He is back. Hallelujah.

I said, "What did you do?"

He said, "I could trust no man."

"So what did you do?"

He said, "I got my Bible, and I read it for six hours a day minimum. I read the entire Old and New Testament all the way through every two weeks."

Everything God said pertinent to mankind passed through Augie every two weeks for a year.

If you have mental problems, let me tell you one step out of it: continually read the Word of God out loud. You need to replace your thoughts with His out loud. If you speak it out loud, you are adding one more attribute to the assimilation of the Word of God. You are recording it in the soundtracks as well as the visual.

I said, "You read it? Augie, would you please show me how you did it? I want to know everything about it."

He showed me the couch in India at his house. He would come out into the front room while everybody else was sleeping, or in other parts of the house cooking and doing things. He would get up real early, come out, get down on his knees, put the Bible in front of him, and read page after page after page.

I said, "Augie, what did you do when you got to the really boring parts about the exact, precise measurements for this and for that?"

He said, "I just worshiped God and thought, if He cared that much about detail, He cared that much about detail in my life."

That is right.

See, you hold the canon of Scripture. Every thought in it, He thought you needed to know. It is yours. Before these teachings are over, I want to teach you about your covenant and their covenant, and why you have something more precious than any old saint dreamed. Please, do not throw it away.

Augie knelt down in front of the Bible and read for six hours, hour after hour after hour. Have you ever heard Augie teach? No man should be able to pull from that many places in the Word of God.

In my training, God would not even let me go back and look at the Old Covenant until I had assimilated the New Covenant sufficiently, so I would not get into the Old and try to act like the old saints when I have a new covenant.

Hallelujah.

That hour after hour stabilized Augie and turned him back to the Word. He even wrote letters and apologized. He has his foundation back.

Two or three months ago--maybe six weeks ago, maybe five, I do not know; how do I know? I am lost most of the time. My whole life is passing before me. Hallelujah--he called me up and was chattering like a little kid.

I said, "Augie, what is going on?"

He said, "I had a visitation. I have known you for twenty-three and a half years. I went and got a bunch of your tapes and was riding to Texas listening to them, and God came in the car. I had a visitation, and my God, it dropped into my spirit. I saw what happened to me. I was an idiot, wasn't I?"

I said, "Yes, you was."

He said, "How did I let the devil deceive me like that?"

I said, "He is a master at it, Augie. You have to transform away from him. You have to transform away from him. You hear me? You cannot leave a vulnerable person standing there, or he will kill you."

He said, "I went and got more tapes, and I got more tapes." He was so excited. He said, "Why could I not see this before?"

Folks, now the delight of his day is that he hastens, he runs toward the prayer closet when he gets to spend those six hours with God, praying in tongues.

He said, "My God, tell me, shake me, slap me, tell me, why did I give it up?"

Living on this side, how can I tell you? Hallelujah. You should see him now. He is so happy.

Hallelujah.

So read precisely and deliberately fifty times. After the fifty times, you can go back and do word studies, chapter studies, breakdown studies, reference studies, anything you want. Of course, generally I meditate subjects. I do not try to read a book like Isaiah a hundred times before I do anything about it. But with many of the smaller books that are just one subject, I will assimilate the whole book instead of a subject.

Let me show you why, and then we will stop for tonight.

Hallelujah. Psalm 1:1:

Blessed is the man.

Oh, this is good stuff. I will just run through it quickly.

Blessed is the man. This man is blessed. Number one, he walks not in the counsel of the ungodly. Nor does he stand, or do things, the way sinners do. He is blessed because he does not take his counsel from the world. He does not do things the way sinners do. He does not stand in the way of sinners. Nor does he sit in the seat of the scornful. He does not enter into that kind of strife, malice, hatred, scorn, fighting, and bickering.

You have to stay out of that counsel. Stay. Run. Run. You cut your revelation off.

But this man, his delight is in the Word, or the law of the Lord. In His law does he meditate how much? Day and night. Day and night. Day and night.

Now let us get the comparison here:

And he shall be like a tree planted by the rivers of water.

We are talking about the Holy Ghost now. We are talking about that river that feeds your leaves when there is drought in the land. As your roots sank deep, my God, they found the rivers. Your tree is going to bear fruit every due season now, as your meditational root system has found the water.

He shall be like a tree planted by the rivers of water, that bringeth forth his fruit in his season; his leaf also shall not wither; and whatsoever he doeth shall prosper.

This tree, because of the benefit of a meditator, has a root system that will sink into the rivers of living water. That is where he draws his life from. Those leaves are now being fed by the rivers. So it does not matter what hot autumn winds blast the tree. It really does not matter. This tree is not going to die. This tree, in its next due season, is going to produce a harvest, because this tree is blessed.

Why is this tree blessed? Because this blessed man of God, this blessed woman of God, refuses to take counsel from the world anymore. She refuses to stand or do things the way sinners do. She or he has cut herself off from the scornful.

"I will not sit in the seat of judgment, scorn, malice, and strife. I will not, because I love revelation knowledge too much to have my stream choked off."

So what did he say? If I am not going to take my counsel from the world, not going to do things the way sinners do, and I am going to clear myself from strife, then my next step is to delight myself in the Word and meditate day and night.

Why? If I am not going to get my counsel from the world, I am going to have to get it from somewhere. I am going to have to take it from something. His delight is what? And in it does he meditate how much?

That one statement, as I was meditating on meditation, started opening my channel up to teach me what meditation was. I can tell you what it is by telling you what it is not. It is not reading. It is not studying. It is not memorization.

All these things assist meditation. They do not replace it.

That was how He got this over to me. They do not replace it because I cannot do them day and night. I cannot read day and night. I cannot study day and night. I cannot memorize day and night. But I can meditate day and night. All those things do is assist your meditation.

By causing you to deliberately give yourself to the Word of God fifty times like that, you are activating a process by which you can assimilate the Word of God. You are taking the first step in assisting yourself in meditation of the Word day and night.

How, Brother Roberson? Because I am equipping my spirit for meditating day and night by assimilating the Word of God that I am supposed to transform to. When I assimilate that Word, I have equipped the Holy Spirit with what He needs to rise up anytime, anywhere in meditation and transform me to the meaning of what that Word says.

Hallelujah. I am equipping myself for day-and-night meditation.

"Why will you not let me stop and study this chapter for two or three weeks and then study the next one?"

Because you are not equipped.

Where do you think false doctrine comes from? By picking letters apart. There is not a lot of danger of doing that if you read it fifty times, deliberately and precisely, while you were praying in tongues, because there might be, in the twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth chapters, some concluding thoughts that would have opened up the seventh, eighth, and ninth chapters.

But would you know that? No, you would not know that because you did not assimilate the book.

But because you assimilated the book, you are making the job of the Holy Spirit so much easier in your meditation. Now you have equipped Him so that if there is any information He needs from anywhere else in that book, He can pull it together, pull that one Scripture or that chapter to the forefront, and explode the revelation of it through your understanding.

You have just given Him what He needs. You did not have to try. It comes.

When you are testifying to somebody, where do you think the little information you do know comes from when you lay into them? God will anoint anything that will testify to anybody. You only know about eight verses, and my God, the Holy Ghost is quickening anything you have ever heard. He is right there at your defense.

You take a few verses, and when it is done, you are thinking, "My God, where did I read that? I did not know I read that." Then you have to go look up the verse. "Boy, that was a good verse." You heard it somewhere. When it jumped out, you let them have it.

Just wait until you discover the volumes of information and the power of transformation when you learn how to assimilate the mind of Christ in each of those books. Faith comes by hearing, and hearing by the Word of God.

When you have assimilated entire books, they will be keys to assimilating other entire books. "Man, I know what this means now, because Paul finished this one in this book over here." You got it right.

I cannot study or memorize day and night, but I can meditate day and night because I am equipping my spirit for meditation. I am assimilating, just like I assimilate a language.

He will take life situations, every emotional thing, every business problem, everything you run into, and use all of them to teach you all of those chapters that you really did not know you were assimilating, until it is time for Him to use that situation to teach you. Just like in Portuguese, you see some little girl running down toward the riverbank and you have to yell at her to come back. That emotional crisis will cause you to want to reach in for that language so badly, and when you start getting the language that way, you will get the language there.

Well, let us stop right here, or else I will have to go into a whole other segment.

Hallelujah.

These are some of the principles I broke some of the most difficult verses in the entire Word of God based on. Difficult ones.

My God, you do not know how many times I passed through Luke 16 on that marriage verse. I can tell you right now, I was not even looking at the verses I can remember correctly. The Holy Ghost was able to kick in, and the revelation danced in my spirit. I felt like I had landed on the moon.

Here is a verse we just could not understand because it did not leave the cause of fornication:

Whosoever putteth away his wife, and marrieth another, committeth adultery: and whosoever marrieth her that is put away from her husband committeth adultery.

No ifs, buts, blacks, whites, nothing. No adultery exception.

Then when I assimilated the chapter, I saw what He was talking about. They were accusing Jesus of forsaking the law. He said, "No, that is impossible. Heaven and earth would have to pass before one tittle or crossing of the law failed to come to pass, because he that puts away his wife and marries another commits adultery."

In those two statements, what He was saying was this: "Israel, you know you are married to God through the law. But that is okay, because I am God, and I am going to die. When I die, it is going to widow you and free you to marry another. So to your accusation that I have forsaken the God of the fathers, I want you to know I am going to die, and the covenant is going to die with Me, and widow you from your marriage through the law, and free you to marry another, even Him who is risen from the dead. So there is the answer to your question."

Hallelujah.

By the time we are done with you, it will make you wonder what is in the Word of God and where we have been. Where have we been, for God's sake?

Statements like, "The law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made me free from the law of sin and death." What would be a law that governs sin and death? We know that sin caused death and death was related to sin. Adam transgressed, and it caused death. So what law governs it?

That is what Paul was talking about in relationship with Romans 7. There was a law present with him. The law of sin and death says that for an unregenerated man, when he tried to do good, evil was present with him, and he found out he could not do good. That was the law of sin and death.

He says, "I was alive without the law once: but when the commandment came, sin revived, and I died." He says, "Is the law sin? God forbid. I had not known covetousness, except the law had said, Thou shalt not covet."

A spiritually dead man does not know he is dead until God says, "Quit sinning." He says, "Quit sinning," and the man finds out a donkey cannot quit being a donkey. That is his nature, to be a donkey.

So what Paul was describing, when he graduated to Romans 8, is that what freed you from Romans 7 is the law of the Spirit of life. It superseded the other law. You tried to keep it and could not, because when you did good, evil was present with you. The motions of sin, which work by the law, were sin and death.

When you start to assimilate it, He can work a verse in the seventh chapter with a verse in the second chapter. These things start dancing in your understanding.

For instance, when God approached Abraham, He said, "Do you believe that I can quicken the dead?"

Abraham said, "Yes, I do."

Quicken is different from resurrection. I heard that in the Spirit. Quicken usually refers to the human spirit. Resurrection refers to the flesh. What God was saying was, "Abraham, do you believe I can quicken a dead spirit? Do you believe I can take a dead spirit and bring it back to life?"

What He was asking Abraham is, "Do you believe that I can resurrect Jesus? Do you believe I can quicken a dead spirit?"

He said, "Yes, I do."

God said, "That is good. I am calling those things that be not as though they were."

So what He was saying was, "Abraham, you believe I can raise Jesus, even though your spirit is as dead as a door now? You do not have My nature, and you will not until the cross. But do you believe I can raise Jesus? Do you believe I can quicken the spirit?"

He said, "Yes, I do."

God said, "Good. Then I am calling those things that be not, which is your dead spirit, as though it was, and I am putting righteousness on your account to be paid in full."

That was the shape they found the man in, in Romans 7, trying to keep the law while spiritually dead. He says, "Is the law sin? God forbid. I had not known covetousness except the law said, Thou shalt not covet."

God came along and said, "Hey, dead man, quit coveting."

He said, "I tried, and I found that a law was present with me: when I tried to do good, evil was present with me. So then the good I would, I could not; and the evil I did not want to do, I ended up doing. Who shall deliver me from this body of death? I thank God through Jesus Christ our Lord."

Therefore there is no more condemning sin in the judicial system of the law that can be carried out anymore, because I have been born again. The law of the Spirit of life has canceled the other one. No, sir, I am not forced back into sin, because I lost that old nature. The law freed me. I can serve God now.

What do you think He meant when He said Jesus received the Spirit without measure? Does that mean everybody in the Old Testament received Him with measure? Yes, sir. He only came for a purpose, pursuit, or plan of God, and He could only operate in their soul.

Jesus was the last Adam. He was the first One since Adam to receive the Holy Spirit again. He received Him without measure, which meant He came to stay with Him. Everybody else, He came for a purpose or plan and then had to back off. That is why Jesus said, "He is with you now, but in that day He shall be in you."

Why? Because you got born again. Just like Jesus, you received the Holy Spirit without measure. He did not come just for a season to part the Red Sea or something. He moved into you, my friend. My God, you got what they dreamed to have.

Now that you have that new nature, you have an ability to understand God. Do not throw it away. When you assist in the transformation of your soul, you and Him become something to reckon with. By the end of this generation, you will be downright dangerous. You will be so equipped that they will not want to open their mouths, because you will land on them with glory and power and wisdom and life.

Besides all that, since you would not let me quit, God sent you a personal teacher. He sent you a personal teacher with a commission, first and foremost, to guide you into all truth. John 17 said, "Thy Word is truth."

You have a personal tutor equipped to instruct and to teach that new nature you received from God, because it can understand God. So the Holy Ghost says, "It is time that I move in and become their personal tutor. If I can just get them to meditate the Word with their mind, then I can approach them with the understanding. By the time we unite in the middle, there will be an understanding that will make them a faith-filled, power-moving machine."

It is not going to depend on a picky message some guy read out of a book, letting him give you his opinion. How do you know where he has been? Just eat the hay and spit the sticks out.

I know that saying. My God, I know it. You have to spend your time all day long.

I love that saying, and it sounds good: "If you know the difference, then you have to know more than the preacher."

It would not hurt you. If you know more than I do, I expect you to do more.

"Just eat the hay and spit the sticks out."

Now wait a minute. I am out there working all day long, selling insurance or something like that. We are giving you an exorbitant salary and a new van. If we are going to pay you, preacher, give you a new car and a house to live in so we can drag in after fighting the world all week, then we have to guard against you?

Give me my money back.

Stand up so you can pray too much in the Holy Ghost.

I can tell you right now, if you are sitting in on prayer meetings that say that, I would protect my spirit and quit. The most valuable thing you have is your transformation to God.

Amen.

No, sir. Do not take my Word from me. It is my life. It is what God wants me to be and where He wants me to go. No, sir. Give yourself to it. Take the time you need.

You just cannot live off us dealing with an issue a couple of times a week. To be honest with you, that is why I deal so much with your personal relationship with God and what you can do to improve it. I know we cannot give you enough Word in dos and don'ts and opinions to help you enough. We do not have enough time.

Hallelujah.
